

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

Sagrantino is a wine of unique character and personality. Indigenous to Umbria, the grapes that made it were used for sacramental wines in olden days. Robust in dark red-berry fruit flavors, it typically features a substantial robe of tannins that can turn seductively velvety over time.

